Dear Studio Notes Subscriber,

You will no doubt have heard about the new EU General Data Protection Regulation ("GDPR"), that comes into effect May 25, 2018. To help comply with GDPR consent requirements, I need to confirm that you would like to receive content from me.

Naturally I hope that you find my Studio Notes and Squarespace updates helpful and that you enjoy my occasional deeper musings on the joys and perils of life as an online business owner who also happens to be a Highly Sensitive Person and as such not very hustle-proof!

Some changes are coming to my business and I would love to continue sharing them with you. Needless to say, if you would rather say good-bye at this point I will understand and thank you for coming along with me so far, your email address will be removed from Studio Notes on May 25, 2018.

To continue receiving my Studio Notes please update your subscription settings by clicking the button below.

Make sure you CHECK the box that says: "I agree and want to receive the Studio Notes newsletter."
